

Most of the distributors are using outdated software built with COBOL, FOXPRO, VISUAL FOXPRO etc. with a non-relational database engine to store their data. They face many issues with data integrity and security compromising the quality of reports they get from their systems. Most of these systems are point solutions addressing one or few of the business processes instead of providing a complete business management solution. Due to this, distributors are forced to use one tool for managing their sales and order fulfilment and another tool for accounting and finance management. This results in duplicate manual work, inconsistency between the two systems making the distributor more and more internal operation focused rather than focusing on the market and the customer. Over a period of time, the distributor is weighed down by these operational issues. It results in customer dissatisfaction, employee disengagement and an environment of pessimism

RayMedi Customer Quotes

Royal Tradelink, Nagpur

Software is too flexible. All entries are clearly posted in its ledgers. If the data size will increase in our computer, we can use the inbuilt compress DB tool. It helps to reduce the DB size. When the customer's bill due date is over, the auto lock billing system is very help to find out the customer's outstanding. I am getting timely response from support team.

Aar Je Pharmaceuticals, Cochin

RayMedi has given the data security through auto backup system and I can manage the good relationship with my customers through customer relation module. The inventory and accounting module is excellent to manage my business and the RayMedi reports are very useful and very easy to use. Support is very good.

Global Herbs Pharmaceuticals-Bebewadi, Pune

RayMedi Security Management system is good. I am a doctor and doing distribution business in my own product. I am managing my business with RayMedi software without any struggle as a single man. Especially, I can manage the customer's outstanding and inventory management very easily. Support is very good. Whenever I call to support for clarification, I am getting immediate response

Muthu Pharma Agencies, Chennai

The VAT report e-filing is very useful. The latest version of RayMedi menu searching option is excellent. If I want to findout the customers outstanding details, I can get through the menu search option immediately. Purchase and Sales transactions are very easy to operate and I can view the reports as per my business needs. RayMedi Support is Excellent.

We are using RayMedi NetTrade to receive orders from retailers and other customers and sending invoices electronically back to them. We are doing electronic transfer with 50 retailers and 20 branches/sister concerns. Due to this, we are saving at least 2 data entry operators. I highly recomand RayMedi NetTrade to increase efficiency and accuracy and to lower cost.

Sri Kumaran Agency, Tirunelveli

RayMedi VAT return e-filing system is excellent and based on the stock availability, I can generate the purchase order list, it helps to maintain the correct stock level. Accounts and report modules are very useful to findout my business status. I am regularly getting the latest updations from RayMedi software. Support is very good.
